

SEEK TANGO PUPIL IN DEATH OF GIRL

Authorities Are Looking for
'Small Town Man.'

CORONER'S JURY PROBING

Mysterious "Mr. Spencer" Is Believed by Police to be the Only One Who Can Tell Truth of Murder.

Chicago, Ill.—Everett A. Rexroat, Macomb county farmer, husband of Mrs. Allie Rexroat, Chicago dancing teacher, shot to death near Wayne, Ill., Saturday morning, Monday told a coroner's jury the history of his acquaintance with Mrs. Rexroat.

His testimony, together with that of W. H. Allison, her divorced husband, and others who knew something of the circumstances in which Mrs. Rexroat visited Wayne, failed to throw any light on the identity of the slayer.

Seek Dancing Pupil.

The efforts of the police now are centered in a search for "Mr. Spencer," a pupil of Mrs. Rexroat's dancing class, reported to have been infatuated with her and who, she had said, had arranged for her to teach a private class at Wheaton and who accompanied her from Chicago on the night she met her death.

A switch of woman's hair and a number of "rats" of the sort used by women in dressing their hair, found in the Chicago yards of the Burlington railroad, were identified by Mrs. Victor I. Johnston as having belonged to Mrs. Rexroat. Mrs. Rexroat lived at Mrs. Johnston's home.

The hair is taken by the police to indicate that the murderer fled to Chicago, possibly on a freight train, discovered the hair while looting Mrs. Rexroat's suitcase, and threw it away here.

C. A. Goodman, who lives in Wheaton and who occupied the seat in the train in front of Mrs. Rexroat, was one of the chief witnesses at the inquest.

"The couple sat back of men on the 6:30 train," he said. "They mentioned the town of Macomb several times, and the man said: 'My father certainly knew how to make a will. The interest from my income is bigger than most fellows' salaries. It sure supports me a lot better.'"

Passion for Tango.

The mysterious "Mr. Spencer," described as a "small town man" with a passion for the tango, is believed by the police to be the only one who can tell the real truth of the murder. Rexroat convinced State's Attorney Abadie, of DuPage county, that he had no part in the murder, having established an alibi.

The testimony of Allison and Miss Frances Semrow, a half sister of the decedent, pictured the latter as frivolous. "She was always getting in trouble about men," testified Miss Semrow. Rexroat knew about it and was angry.

Allison said he looked after business affairs of his former wife and had charge of her property in Michigan and of a bank book. Rexroat, the infatuated farmer of Macomb, married the woman last spring within two weeks of her divorce from Allison.

Mrs. Allison-Rexroat was murdered at Wayne, a suburb of this city where many wealthy men have their country homes, on Friday night last. She was shot in the head, the body placed on the railroad tracks and she was robbed of jewelry and money valued at about $400.

ADMITS MURDERING YOUTH

Man Says He Killed Boy on Golf Links
Because Lad Called Mother
Profane Name.

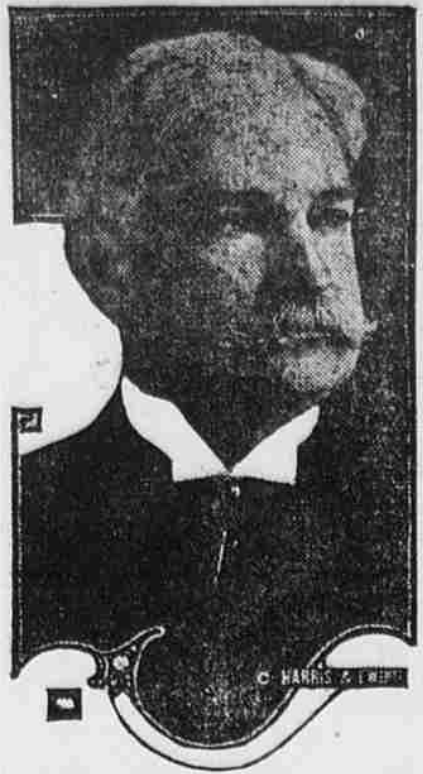

Philadelphia, Pa.—Confession to the murder of seven-year-old Israel Goldman on the golf links of the Whitemarsh Country club Friday night was wrung from Joseph O'Brien by Capt. Cameron of the detective bureau Monday. The prisoner begged for mercy, and said he did it because the boy called his mother a profane name.

After O'Brien had shown signs of breaking down under a "third degree" examination, Capt. Cameron confronted him with James Mellon, a trolley car conductor, who remembered having seen the man board his car on return from the Country club. O'Brien then said he would tell all.

The prisoner said he met the Goldman boy about 8 o'clock Friday evening and said "Hello." He said the lad replied with a slur at his mother. He said he grabbed the boy, took him to the links and beat and choked him to death.

FIVE TRY TO FLEE FROM SING SING PENITENTIARY

Prisoners Make Desperate
Attempt to Escape.

Criminals Jump Into River, But Are Recaptured by Guards, Who Ran a Shower of Lead
Over Men's Heads.

Ossining, N. Y.—Five prisoners, headed by the notorious "Big Bill" Green, made a desperate attempt to escape from Sing Sing and were recaptured only after a thrilling chase in the Hudson by keepers in motor boats.

The five men were unloading a coal barge on the river under the supervision of Keeper William Gormley. Prison guards on duty on the walls saw one or more suddenly jump on the keeper, strike him down and then leap into the water, being immediately followed by the remainder of the gang. The alarm was sounded and the guards opened fire with their rifles at the heads which showed above the water.

As the bullets began to come nearer their four of the men threw up a hand to indicate they had surrendered and waited quietly until the keepers arrived in motor boats.

Green continued on in his attempt to make the opposite shore, however, despite the volleys which churned the water around him. When the four who had given up were taken into the boats, they continued after Green, overtaking him after a chase of a quarter of a mile.

Even when grasped by two keepers and drawn from the water the desperate convict refused to surrender and put up a stiff fight. He was roughly handled by the guards before he was conquered.

All of those implicated in the attempt were serving long terms for robbery or arson. This is the second attempt made by Green, who is under sentence for highway robbery. Several years ago he made a break and was only captured after a hard chase.

SOUTHERN LAWMAKER IS DEAD

Representative Roddenberry of Georgia
Passes Away at His Home
After Brief Illness.

Thomasville, Ga.—Seaboard A. Roddenberry, representative in congress of the Second district of Georgia, died at his home here after a brief illness.

About two weeks ago Mr. Roddenberry returned from Washington suffering from a nervous breakdown, the result of his strenuous labors in connection with the fight against federal pensions. Despite the efforts of his physicians his strength had been so depleted that he failed to rally.

Mr. Roddenberry has represented the Second district in congress since 1910, when he was elected to fill an unexpired term.

Congressman Roddenberry was born on a farm in Decatur county, Georgia, Jan. 12, 1870. He was graduated from Mercer university at Macon, Ga., in 1891. He was admitted to the bar in 1894. Mr. Roddenberry was elected to the Georgia legislature in 1892 and was re-elected. He was elected to the sixty-first congress in February, 1910, and was re-elected to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

U. S. Beaten Out by Argentina.
Washington, D. C.—The United States has lost its position as the meat producing center of the world. She has been succeeded by Argentina. These facts were set forth by G. A. Bell, assistant chief of the bureau of animal husbandry of the department of agriculture, when he returned from a four months' tour of Europe. He stated that a drought similar to that prevailing in this country had caused a serious shortage of meat stock in England and on the continent, the shortage there being worse than here.

BOY BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN

Two Youths Dynamite Express Safe and Rifle Mail Car and Escape
With $50,000.

Cottontdale, Ala.—Two boys were the bandits who early in the morning rifled the mail car and dynamited the express safe on the Alabama Great Southern passenger train of the Queen & Crescent system near this place and escaped with booty estimated to total $50,000. In the search for the bandits Deputy Sheriff James Benner of Birmingham was shot and killed by Deputy Sheriff W. J. Cope, a member of another posse from Montgomery, who mistook Benner for one of the robbers.

After stopping the train at Bibbville siding at 12:30 a. m. by means of a black danger signal, the young bandits, with drawn revolvers, forced the engineer, fireman, express messenger and six mail clerks to leave their engine and cars and line up at the side of the track. The robbers then compelled one of the trainmen to detach the engine, express and mail cars, whereupon the bandits boarded the locomotive and with one robber at the throttle drove the front part of the train several miles down the track, where the express safe was blown open with dynamite and the registered mail pouches rifled. The robbers then threw open the throttle of the engine, leaped to the ground and escaped with their booty into the swamps, while the runaway engine and express and mail cars dashed on down the track through several towns until the steam in the engine was exhausted, and the runaway train came to a stop at Englewood, Ala.

Gives Life to Save Children.
New York City.—Edward Scully, a superintendent in the street cleaning department, sacrificed his life Friday to save a crowd of children on the street.

A runaway horse attached to a truck was headed toward a corner in Brooklyn. On the sidewalk were some 300 children.

Scully dashed out of his office, seized the animal's bridle and turned it into the curb. Although he had checked the runaway he was carried under the horse's hoofs and killed.

10 DEAD, 13 INJURED, AS RESULT OF A RIOT

Two Negroes Who Start
Trouble Are Lynched.

Colored Man Who Had Been Drinking
Heavily and Lost Large Sum of Money in Crap Game
Starts on Warpath.

Harriston, Miss.—Ten persons are dead and thirteen lie wounded, two probably fatally, as the result of a riot which terrorized the citizens of Harriston for eight hours Sunday morning, threw passengers of a train into a panic, caused Gov. Earl Brewer to rush a company of militia from Natchez and ended only when the two negroes who started the trouble over losses at a crap game had been lynched in the presence of the militia.

Dead and Wounded.

The dead are: Grover B. Hammett, sheriff of Jefferson county; Frank Kinsley, constable of Harriston; Claude Freeman, white; Joe Weeks, Jesse Thompson, Fayette Greyson, Johann Aikens, Teller Warren, Will Jones, Walter Jones.

The wounded: Edward B. Appleby, conductor Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad, shot above heart, in arm and thigh, probably fatally.

O. S. Gillis, clerk of the circuit court of Jefferson county, probably fatally.

Thad Ross, shot in side; condition serious.

William Bonds, train flagman.

Pernell Lee and Reynolds Kinsley and the following five negroes: Homer Aikens, John Wiggins, Jerry Haywood, John Nash, Bob Patterson and L. S. Hill, Pullman porter.

The row which culminated in a riot began at a little negro cabin on the south edge of the town shortly after 1 a. m. Will Jones with other negroes had been engaged in a crap game since early Saturday night. Jones had been drinking heavily and was quarrelsome over losses. Going over to the railroad track, which passes in front of the house, he suddenly took up a shotgun. There was a flash and Teller Warren, a negro, fell dead. Attracted by the report, Aikens, a negro woman, came to her door. She staggered back with a bullet in her arm. At the same time her child, sitting up in bed, was hit in the arm by another shot. Negroes scattered in wild confusion. Will Jones disappeared into the darkness, going up the railroad track toward town. A block away he came to an old store where a number of white men were playing poker behind closed doors. The negro deliberately fired into the room. Buckshot scattered in all directions, but all the players escaped harm. Claude Freeman of Fayette, unarmed, went outside to learn what had happened. He was shot dead.

Shoots Several Negroes.

The path of the murderer led to the depot. En route he met several negroes. Their bodies also were found beside the railroad tracks at dawn. The early morning train of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad from Memphis reached the station at 1:30 o'clock. Conductor Appleby walked into the telegraph office to receive his orders. As he emerged from the doorway a flash of a shotgun appeared from behind the cars and Appleby fell fatally wounded. Will Bonds, the flagman on the train, went in search of the assailant and he was likewise greeted with a gun flash. A slight wound in the arm was the extent of his injuries. Pernell Lee, employed in the railroad yard as a pump tender, also received a wound in the arm. While the town was being awakened by the repeated shooting, Frank Kinsley, constable, was called to his door and shot down. Reynolds Kinsley, his son, who ran to his father's aid, was wounded in the arm. By 3 o'clock the shooting had assumed the proportions of a battle. But the negroes were crafty and deftly evaded all pursuers. Sheriff Hammett drove from Fayette to Harriston, accompanied by Tom Hommett, his aged father, and a deputy sheriff and O. S. Gillis, clerk of the circuit court.

By the lights at the depot Will Jones and his brother Walter, who had joined him, were seen to hurry to their home, 300 feet away. The two Hammetts and Gillis, with pistols drawn, approached the house and called upon the negroes to surrender.

Finally Thad Grayson, an aged negro, under promise of a $10 note, approached the Jones house and parlayed for a surrender. This move was successful. Will Jones, Johnson Prophet and Bob Patterson came out with hands upraised.

Walter Jones was shot while trying to escape. Preparations for a lynching were well under way when the militia from Natchez arrived on a special train. The soldiers were told firmly to stand aside, and the command lined up while Will Jones was hanged to a telegraph pole and Walter Jones was strung up to the coal chute.

Hopes for Union of All Churches.
Baltimore, Md.—Cardinal Gibbons, in an interview granted Sunday to a reporter, expressed the fervent hope that a union of all Christian churches under one head might ultimately be brought about and predicted that such a union would result in wonderful advances of civilization. Of the efforts of Sir Oliver Lodge to produce scientific proof of the existence of life beyond the grave the cardinal said those who believed in the teachings of Christ had no need of such proof.

Alliance.—Joseph Beutero, a grocer, was attacked for the sixth time. He and some friends were playing cards after his store was closed, when someone outside fired a shotgun and revolver through the window. The shot took effect in the victim's left shoulder. Beutero says he joined the Blackhand in Europe, but left the order when he came to America, and that the members mean to kill him.

Zanesville.—Perry county thinks it has the best babies in the United States. A better baby contest was given at the county fair at New Lexington than has been held anywhere, say all in the county. Ted McDonald of New Lexington, a two-year-old, scored 99.8 points, and Rosella Hunt of Crooksville, one year old, scored 99.5 points.

Toledo.—After shooting and killing his stepfather, Otto Gumpert, a Wheeling & Lake Erie switchman, Clark Martille gave himself up to the police here.

Dayton.—"Pretend that you caught me cheating," suggested Byron Collins, aged 18, to Russell French, 17, at the Collins home, six miles north of Dayton, when the boys engaged in a wild west card game.

Wooster.—Continuous banquets may be served in offices of probate judges in Ohio if a suggestion made by Judge W. E. Weygant is carried out. The judge had heard evidence in the divorce case of Ada Lawrence against Shilo Lawrence, and the testimony indicated that the young wife was not as expert a cook as the bridegroom's mother. Lawrence, after a year of married life, sent his wife home to her parents.

"If I were a probate judge, I believe I would issue an order compelling brides who expect to keep house to bring samples of their cooking with them when they apply for marriage licenses," the court told the woman in granting the decree.

LIGHTNING FROM FOG BANK
Captain of Pacific Coast Schooner
Tells of Strange Bombardment of His Vessel.

Capt. A. Sunderberg of the steam schooner Wasp, which plies between Seattle and California ports, reports a strange experience at sea on August 7. In a report made to the Hydrographic office Captain Sunderberg says that at 10 p. m., when six miles east by south of Point Conception, his vessel ran into a thick fog bank which hung close to the water.

Without the fog rising in the least, a violent electric storm broke out, and for one hour and 14 minutes the blanket of heavy mist was pierced continually by discharges of atmospheric electricity and vivid flashes of angular zigzag and forked lightning. At 12:15 a. m., August 8, the steel foremast of the Wasp became charged with electricity from the top down to the spring stay. Captain Sunderberg says this was not the usual display of St. Elmo fire, as the mast gave out loud reports as if from a powerful wireless apparatus.

While the vessel was bombarded by lightning which coursed down her main mast, her officers and crew did not venture on deck.
